ORCHESTRA TO PLAY IN MC CARTER AT 8:30
Cleveland Symphony Under Direction of Rodini to Cominize University Series.

PROGRAM LARGELY GERMANIC
To Include Works of Mozart, Brahms and Wagner—Prof. Welch Out.

By W. E. Ziegler

Under the direction of Arthur Rodini, formerly assistant to Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, one of the most prominent of our present-day orchestras, the Sym-} phony will open at 8:30 Mc Carter Theatre Tuesday with the series of University concerts for 1935-36.

The program will open with Mozart’s “Overture to Don Giovanni,” followed by Brahms’ “Fourth Symphony in E Minor” on the intermission the program will be devoted to German music, including the “Ride of the King of the Golden Calf,” the “Freischutz” and “Love Death” from “Tristan and Isolde,” and the “Romance” from “Lohengrin.”

The Cincinnati Orchestra was organized in 1818, and for the first 15 years of its history, has been under the direction of Colosi Sololok.

In 1923 a new conductor was sought, the choice was made of Dr. Jacob Sarnoff, who was leading the Los Angeles Symphony. In 1924 the position was made permanent.

Mr. Rodini is now up in the second year of his third season with the orchestra, and his name has become a household word in many of music’s greatest names.

After serving in the war he conducted the New York Philharmonic Orchestra in-\n} side New York city, and then he was appointed to the directorship of the orchestra of the University of Cincinnati, and has since been making his home in Cincinnati. His music has been performed at Carnegie Hall and the Municipal Auditorium of Chicago, and has taken part in some of the more important concerts of the season.

Mr. Rodini has been received with a resounding ovation from the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, and has been thoroughly successful in every engagement. He is at present the conductor of the University Symphony Orchestra of Cincinnati.

The concerts will be given in the Auditorium of the University of Cincinnati, and will be conducted by Mr. Rodini.

evently For “Lawrence,”

A new musical play will be given at the Lawrenceton and lives in Port Rob-ford, N. Y. He is a member of the New York Bar, and is a member of the First Church of Lawrence, the First Church of Port Rob-ford, and a member of the Port Rob-ford School Board.

The new musical play is called “Lawrence,” and is produced by John G. Goodell, who has been associated with Professor Goodell in the production of the musical play “The Musician.”

The play will be produced by the Lincoln Academy, a local amateur dramatic company.

The play is said to be one of the most successful productions of the season, and is now being produced in New York City.

The cast includes a number of talented actors, including Mr. Goodell, who is the leading man, and Miss Goodell, who is the leading lady.

TIME OUT

We can't help but feel that the swimmers did not receive due recognition for a group of performances in Trenton Tuesday night which put Princeton in a position where any other team's accomplishments this winter. Taking four out of six firsts and numerous seconds, the swimmers walked off with the two-foot-six-inch trophy for the team championship in the annual Trenton Times newspaper swim meet.

Coach Howie Stopp has submitted his charges 150-yd. medley relay time of 1:23.7 to the A. A. U. for recognition as a new American standard. Captain Howie Willy, Welch Hough and Hans Van Os really did a remarkable job hanging up this time in the slow, 100-yd. Central High pool. Besides the silver trophy for this event the 400-yd. relay team brought back another cup to add to the decorations of Brokaw Pool. Hough set a pool record in the 100-yd. breaststroke to lead the herd of Nassau medal winners, who were all too-numerous for local competitors.

Courtney's Accuracy Average High

Some interesting statistics on the Tiger-Bull dog basketball game last night show the Kittens as sharp-shooters more accurate than a casual spectator would guess. The Bengal athletic sunk 12 out of 25 shots tried, and even the Yale pulled the ball at the halfboard 66 times, dropping it through the hoop on only eight occasions. These figures, of course, don't count field goals.

The game spent much time at the contest begging their cohorts to move around more when they had the ball. However, it seems they were suffering according to Coach Fairman's anti-sideline-defense starting, which called for moving the ball around speedily and not the players, in order to draw the Tiger's participation to a low mark. Still it looked pretty discouraging to see the Kittens standing still while Yale was constantly on the point of piling up points to bullet against their side.

We once discovered one pretty bad one which points to dismal results when the eagles head for New Haven. That one is the way Rutgers has played Blue and Black in the second half; for Rutgers is the only team beside the Blue which the Tigers came from behind to conquer, and a sight to desire to the Scarlet will be the highest of Eli ambitions.... The triumph Wednesday gives the basketball outfit a .49 winning average.

... We were certainly disappointed to find that metropolis newspapers took as little notice of Princeton's bid for fame; that is the "live in" angle of the game which should help to clinch the cleanup much who once were Blue problem uniforms.

At the Editor of the Princetonian:

Sir: An editorial in yesterday's issue of the Princetonian suggests the Glee Club to return to simplicity, to remember that it is not to strive for the highest and best, and to put out of its mind the conventions and etiquette in which it requires any effort to sing or to listen to. In accordance with the advice, I submit a few rules that the next year's Glee Club might do well to follow:

1. All songs must be sung in unison.
2. No songs must be sung in any foreign language.
3. No songs by Bach, Beethoven, or Brahms must be sung. Gilbert and Sullivan may be used sparsely.

An ideal program should center around simplicity and small liberty. It should include, for example: "Home, Sweet Home," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Home on the Range," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "Shine My Ways to Go Home," with perhaps "Who's Goin' Home?" as an encore. As for songs reflecting the collegiate atmosphere, we have "Betty Coo!" "Take a Number From One to Ten" (adapting the math department), and the ever-popular "School Days."
Senator Lester J. Dickinson of Iowa, One Called "A Heel-Raiser for Agriculture", Who is Mentioned as a Possible Republican Nominee.

Senator Dickinson, Harsh Critic of New Deal, May Enter Campaign as G. O. P. Dark Horse

This article on Senator Dickinson is one of a series of articles being run in the Princetonian, and has not disclosed to the public which paper has been written by the Senator. However, it is known that the Senator has been working on these articles for some time, and that he has been very active in political affairs in recent months.

The article is written in a way that suggests it is not an accurate representation of the Senator's views, and that it is more of a political attack against the Senator. It is not clear who the author of the article is, but it is likely that it was written by one of the Senator's political rivals.

The article contains some factual inaccuracies, such as the claim that the Senator has been working on these articles for some time. It also contains some personal attacks, such as the claim that the Senator is a "heel-raiser" for agriculture.

Despite these inaccuracies, the article has been widely circulated and has received a lot of attention. It is not clear what the Senator's response to the article will be, but it is likely that he will respond in some way.

TAKEN BY MISTAKE

Someone has left my brown sheepskin coat in the wash. Tuesday, December 23, little was there. The sheepskin coat was originally bought from a local store, and it is worth about $100. It is a brown coat, with a fur collar and a fur lining. It is a very expensive coat, and I am very upset that it was lost.

TAKING IT BACK

I am writing to you about an experience I had while shopping at a local store. I purchased a pair of brown leather boots, but upon trying them on, I realized they were too small. I immediately returned them to the store, but the store refused to take them back.

I am writing to you to ask for your assistance. I believe that the store is not following its own return policy, and I would appreciate it if you could help me resolve this issue. I would like to have the boots returned and my money refunded.

TAKEN BY MISTAKE

I am writing to you about a recent incident that occurred in my neighborhood. While I was walking my dog, I noticed a brown bag lying on the sidewalk. I picked it up and took it home, but upon opening it, I realized that it contained a large sum of money.

I am writing to you to ask for your assistance in identifying the owner of this bag. I believe that the owner may be very concerned about losing such a large sum of money. I would appreciate it if you could help me resolve this issue.

A New Idea

I am writing to you about a recent idea that I have had. I believe that it could be very beneficial to the local community if it were implemented.

I would appreciate it if you could provide me with any feedback or suggestions that you may have on this idea. I am very interested in hearing your thoughts on this matter.
